Community Center crisis; Valley backing urgently needed to save facility

The Community Center faces a deficit of over $1,500 to meet fixed operating expenses during the winter months unless some source of income can be found quickly, treasurer George Clifford reported to the general membership last Thursday.

Clifford is chairman of a committee appointed in June to study and recommend a method of operation for the Center and the proposed CVYO addition.

Three possible sources of income were mentioned in the report including monies from the Fiesta de los Amigos benefit, special fund-raising events or renewed efforts to obtain funds through the annual drive which fell far short of other years.

The funds collected during the 1966 membership drive ($2,122) were barely satisfactory, according to Clifford, but that drive was limited only to those persons who had made contributions in the past.

The 1967 drive encompassed all Valley residents, and met with even less success ($1,981). To all intents and purposes that drive is now over and only an occasional $5 membership is received. After the swimming pool closes in the fall there will be no sure source of income.

Although the CVYO (Carmel Valley Youth Organization) and the Community Center are two separate corporations, in the minds of many local residents they are considered as one, Clifford went on to say. He felt that clarification of the Community Center, its problems of finance and its relationship to the CVYO should be emphasized.

BUDGET

The CV Community Center consists of a Center building, swimming pool, bath-house and adjacent property. In 1959, the building and property were mortgaged to finance the swimming pool. As of January, 1967, the mortgage balance was $17,-262.24. Monthly mortgage payments are $173. Property taxes were $923.35 last year with a probable rise to $1,000 next year.

Operating expenses were estimated at about $400 per month which allows only the barest minimum and the actual expense has proven to be $435.

Income is derived from the rent of the building to organizations wishing to use the hall, from a 15¢ surcharge on swimming pool admission (the pool is operated and maintained by the Carmel Unified School District), from donations from organizations and individuals, and from special events such as the Festival of the Grape.

Usually during the summer enough income is derived from the swimming pool surcharge to carry through the winter months. Because of the failure of the fund drive to provide sufficient monies, earlier in the year, this backlog is non-existent.

The Youth Organization which uses the Center as its headquarters, received an allotment of $7,500 from the Crosy Fund towards the construction of an addition to the Community Center building. Before any construction can be done, the present building must be brought up to building code regulations and this, plus the balance necessary to complete the planned addition, comes to an additional $15,000.

It is obvious that a loan cannot be obtained by them to start construction until a concrete plan is presented for assuring future mortgage payments, Clifford emphasized.

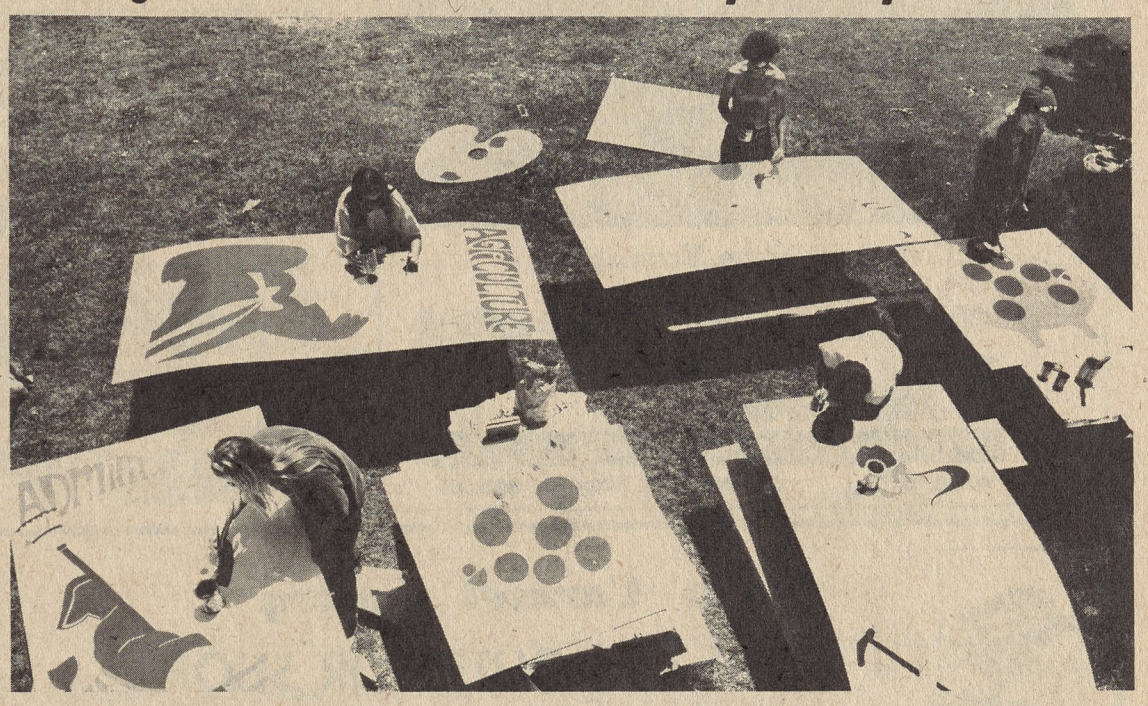
The Valley Lions Club has taken over the management of construction of a patio to be built adjacent to the bath-house and the Kiwanis has assumed responsibility of planning and managing the area and entranceway.

It was suggested by Clifford that the aid of all Valley organizations be enlisted for a massive fund-raising drive, since the Center Board with its ten members is too small to conduct an all-encompassing canvass.

Ken Van Hagen, president of the Chamber of Commerce and also a Community Center board member, volunteered to organize a meeting this week of all the heads of these groups to discuss what can be done to improve the financial picture and put the Center on a self-supporting basis.

Without the backing of the entire Valley, the Community Center could conceivably have to close its doors, Clifford concluded.

Heigh-ho! Come to the Monterey County Fair!



THE MONTEREY COUNTY FAIR will be a riot of color this year following its theme title, "Pigments of the Imagination." Five local artists have been painting like crazy in 235 colors, making brightly-hued panels which will be used to identify buildings and exhibits. (left to right, clockwise) Kathleen Hunter, Marcia McGinnis, Bob McGinnis, Joan Snow and Alfredo Valdez. The Fair will open on Wednesday, Aug. 9 and run through Sunday, Aug. 13. Spanish costumes for the Fiesta de los Amigos

Fashion tips for the Fiesta de los Amigos to be celebrated over Labor Day weekend have been suggested by a committee under the leadership of Mrs. Irene Baldwin.

Irene's costume in the first Fiesta in 1949 was a knockout, and as chairman of costume committee she will give advice on how to dress for the Fiesta from her desk in the real estate office.

Business people will be dressing in Fiesta style the week prior to the celebration and residents are urged to be in costume that weekend.

Mantillas will be the order of the day for the Ball, and skirts in early Spanish California days were very full with six to 12 ruffled petticoats rather than hoops.

Men wore serapes and their jackets were usually of dark colors with filigree buttons and braid trim. Serapes were heavily trimmed with fringe.

To fit in with the spirit of the Fiesta, Valley men are urged to grow beards and moustaches.

This is the opportunity for all to become dashing Don Juans or banditos. Prizes will be given for the most typically Spanish beard as well as the longest and the fanciest.

Chip Collins, chairman in charge of beards says, "Come to the firehouse and register your beard . . . can't win a prize without being registered."

Since the Fiesta de los Amigos is only a month away, the time has come to start planning costumes for the children's parade, the day's festivities, and the street dance that night.

Lions coming from 46 district clubs

Well over 100 Lions from 46 clubs in Monterey, Santa Cruz and Santa Clara counties are expected in Carmel Valley Sunday, Aug. 6, for a district cabinet meeting at Rancho del Monte Country Club. The meeting will be hosted by the Carmel Valley Lions Club.

According to Clyde Hitchcock, deputy district governor and organizer of the meeting, presidents and secretaries from most of the clubs in the district are expected along with the district cabinet, headed by Louis Mammini, district governor from San Martin. The Carmel Valley Lions will be represented by President Richard McKenzie and Secretary John Darch.

PlanCom denies request for removal of decomposed granite and material

John Simpson's request to remove natural materials from Saddle Mountain Ranch was turned down last week by the County Planning Commission. Simpson, who owns the Valley Rock and Adobe Co., applied for a permit to take up to 5,000 cubic yards of decomposed granite and other materials.

Objections were voiced by William Brown of Meadows Rd. and in letters from Joseph Goodrick and Jack Currier of Schulte Rd.

The commission upheld the objections of the residents who stated that a scar had already been created from road work to the private park and that more dust, traffic and noise would be created if the permit were granted.

Saddle Mountain Ranch owner Milton Frumkin said the removal of the natural materials would speed up his development of the picnic park.

PlanCom member Keith Evans expressed his opinion that commercial gravel pits no longer had a place in the Valley topography and the permit should not be granted in a residential area.

Chatterbox has first Village walkway

MR. AND MRS. A.S. FOSSO, proprietors of the Chatterbox restaurant, and Ted Hunter, owner of the property, have been congratulated by the Village Committee for their cooperation in starting the sidewalk system through Carmel Valley Village. In addition to the walkway in front of the restaurant, parking facilities have been provided adjacent to the building.

Women Democrats hear Author Winthrop Griffith

Carmel Valley author Winthrop Griffith was speaker at the Carmel Democratic Women's Club when it met last Friday at the home of Mrs. Stanley Schloss on Country Club Dr.

Mr. Griffith, who has written a biography of Hubert Humphrey and is now at work on another book on the political scene, spoke on problems confronting the Democratic Party.

The meeting was arranged by Mrs. Sherman Smith, program chairman, and Mrs. Bea Short, hospitality chairman. Mrs. Alvin Anderson of Monterey is president of the club.

Course in working with deaf available

Persons interested in working with the deaf as volunteers may sign up for an eight-week evening course which will begin Aug. 7 at the Monterey Institute for Speech and Hearing, 969 Pacific St., Monterey.

Mr. Heinz Hubler will supply further information at 373-2467.

RETIRED PEOPLE

Do you need a "check a month" withdrawal plan?

If you'd like to supplement your retirement income with, say, an additional $50 per month, here's a sensible way to do it. Invest $10,000 in a mutual fund withdrawal plan. Your monthly checks will be paid from dividends and from principal through share redemptions. The plan thus affords an orderly, systematic way to use capital over a period of years while keeping intact the quality, diversification and continuous professional management of your investment account.

Withdrawal plans may also be arranged where the payment is sent to others whom you designate—college registrars, bank mortgage departments, a favorite charity. Even alimony payments through a withdrawal plan are by no means rare.

Of course, mutual funds do not eliminate the risk inherent in investing, and many mutual funds charge a sales commission. A withdrawal in excess of dividends may eventually exhaust capital. Nevertheless, withdrawal plans have proved popular with many people.

Dean Witter & Co. will be glad to give you details on this, or any other aspect of mutual funds. Just call the manager of the Dean Witter office nearest you.

Center in crisis

In their last drive, The Monterey Peninsula Community Chest is reported to have taken about $19,000 in donations out of Carmel Valley... In their last fund raising, The Carmel Valley Community Center gleaned about $1,900 from the same area.

In some past years, the Community Chest has returned a small portion of money to the Community Center... this is no longer done.

Because of non-support of the Community Center by the people in the Valley who use it, the financial picture is so bleak that it could have to shut down.

Since Carmel Valley is unincorporated, the Community Center which serves as youth headquarters as well as "town hall," cannot be supported by city funds. It has to get its money from donations. There is no other place which serves this purpose in Carmel Valley, and yet as the Valley's population has increased, that amount of financial support which the Center received has decreased.

Operating expenses of $400 a month must be met... This doesn't even give any room for improvement or dressing up of the place. This just keeps it going.

During the summer months, the Center is self-supporting because of the income from the 15¢ surtax from the swimming pool, but come November there is relatively little income.

In the days of the founding of the Community Center there was great spirit and support by Valley residents. When the board decided to build the swimming pool, this spirit was revived and the entire place rallied to give pledges and support. Where has it gone? Then and now the CV Women's Club has been a major contributor, but it can't do the job alone.

This complex of public building and pool is a vital necessity to the Valley. Its contribution to the young people of all ages is of primary importance. It provides a central meeting place for Boy Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, CV Youth Organization, and the nucleus of summer recreation and swim training at the pool behind the building. If the Center is forced to close because of lack of support, what happens to the kids?

A recreation district could be formed to incorporate the Community Center, the Little League Field, and the possible picnic grounds at the old Girl Scout camp.

This would have to be passed by the residents, but if passed would insure support of these local recreation areas.

...Or every local resident could make it a point to contribute to the Center just as regularly as they do to Red Cross, Community Chest, Cancer Drive, etc.

It is right here at home... and it seems logical and vital to keep it nourished!

A possible source of income for community services could develop if the unincorporated areas could persuade the county to return the local share of motel room tax money to the Valley for use in supporting recreational facilities.

This amounts to about $12,000 which now goes into the general fund. Cities have it returned to them... we do not.

There is a meeting of the Board of Supervisors on Aug. 8 when this matter will be brought up.

How many Valley residents have been to a supervisors' meeting? It's worthwhile to get to know the local government... and Aug. 8 would be a good day to start.

PERSPECTIVE

IN SHORT

IF THE URGE to harmonize is becoming a little too great for just singing in the shower, the Salinas Chapter of the S.P.E.B.Q.S.A. (Barbershop quartet and chorus) is looking for tenors, leads, baritones and basses.

They would like to build up a 60-man chorus, both to provide free entertainment throughout the county and enter district competition.

The Salinas group meets on Monday evenings from 7:30 to 10, at the Salinas Recreation Center, 326 Lincoln Place.

CARMEL RIVER and Los Padres dam were stocked with trout last week, so anglers should have a good supply of fish to work on.

ALMA WILMOT, fourth year English student at California Polytechnic College, has been awarded the Elementary Teacher Education Scholarship of the California Congress of Parents and Teachers for 1967-68. The $500 scholarship is awarded to junior, senior or graduate students in elementary education.

Alma is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pearson Wilmot of Panetta Rd.

CHRISTINE CAPEN has been selected to enter Scripps College as a freshman this fall. Scripps, at Claremont, Calif., is a privately-endowed liberal arts college for women, specializing in a unique humanities program. Chris is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Capen of La Rancheria.

Four-lane road?

To Willard Branson:

I have been asked by the Mid-Carmel Valley Property Owners Association, Inc., to correct your belief as reported in the Monterey Peninsula Herald, that this organization supports the construction of a four-lane road to replace the existing Carmel Valley Road. This organization is not on record as favoring a four-lane road.

Very truly yours,
Edwin B. Lee
President

Leaving CVYO

Editor, The Outlook:

Carmel Valley Youth Organization has come a long way; they can do a lot more. Each and every one of the members make this organization exactly what it is, and they control what it will be. If they want something to happen at the CVYO, then they must MAKE IT HAPPEN. You control the fate of this Youth Center. You have a choice!

I, too, have had to make a choice—a hard choice. I've been accepted at Humbolt State College. I have chosen to continue my education. This means that as of Sept. 14 I will no longer serve CVYOA as its director. It is with deepest sorrow that I submit this resignation. None of us ever stops learning. I have learned from CVYO more than you can imagine; but I believe that there is so much more to learn that we can only hurt ourselves by not getting as much education as we can. The education is there for the asking.

So, in September I am leaving. Who will take my place? I don't know. If you know of someone who would like this type of work please have them contact me, either at the Center or at my home: 659-2740; or have them call Mrs. Glendenning at 659-4091.

The last year and a half has been the greatest of my young life. THANK YOU!!!

Jeffrey Spencer Wright
Director, CVYO

Nancy Schoone, James Bostwick exchange vows

An evening ceremony on July 1 at All Saints' Church in Carmel, united Nancy Carol Schoone and James Stephen Bostwick in marriage.

Nancy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Marks of Paso Mediano and Jim is the son of Mrs. Donald Kreuter of Tucson, Ariz., and Dr. Jack Bostwick of Glendora, Calif.

Rev. David Hill was assisted at the ceremony by Dr. Joseph S. Fox, grandfather of the groom, who has officiated at most of the marriages in the family.

Nancy was given in marriage by her stepfather.

The bride's gown was of silk organza in an empire A-line style trimmed with seed pearls, with a chapel train.

Her illusion veil was caught with a scalloped cap of lace, and she carried baby white roses, stephanotis and lilies of the valley in a cascading bouquet.

Jacqueline Davis of Los Angeles was matron of honor, with Rosalyn Fleishman of Los Angeles and Wynne West of San Francisco serving as bridesmaids. Marilyn Bostwick, sister of the groom, and Debbie Boberg, cousin of the bride, were junior bridesmaids.

Bridesmaids wore dresses of ivory lace with avocado green at the bottom and carried old fashioned bouquets of shasta daisies with cascading ribbons and miniature ivy.

Ralph Bostwick of Santa Barbara was best man for his brother. Ushers were Gordon Walters of Berkeley, Gary Johnson and Chuck Wiggins of San Francisco and Jim Edmiltin of State Line, Nev.

The reception was held at The Outrigger on Cannery Row. The four-tier cake was trimmed with avocado satin ribbons and pale yellow roses topped by a seed pearl heart. After the reception the young couple left for a honeymoon to the Mendocino area.

The bride's mother wore an avocado lace full-length gown and the groom's mother was dressed in pale blue silk.

Nancy and Jim will live in Marin County at Larkspur while they continue their educations. Nancy is studying at San Francisco State and Jim is attending Hastings College of the Law.

Most of the wedding guests were from out-of-town, since Nancy's parents moved to the Valley fairly recently from Cincinnati. Nancy's aunt, Mrs. Iola Boberg, and her four children were present from Cincinnati and Jim's uncle, Joseph Fox and family, and aunts Mrs. Nancy Swanger, Mrs. Thelma Groff and Mrs. Roy Coleman, husband and family all came from San Diego for the ceremony. His grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Fox also attended from San Diego.

Chamber music to be next in Forest Theatre series

Members of the Beyer String Trio will be featured at next Sunday's afternoon concert at Carmel's outdoor Forest Theater.

This may be the last time, at least for a considerable period, that music lovers will be able to hear them locally, Barbara Norberg, of the committee in charge, pointed out this week. One member, Dr. Erwin Gordon, violinist, is already in New York and violinist Helen Beyer and cellist Elaine Beyer, will soon join him there where concerts have been arranged.

Noted pianists Wade Parks and Fred Schaad will perform with Helen and Elaine next Sunday to present trios from the works of Hayden, Beethoven and Brahms.

Mr. Schaad, who has appeared as piano soloist in the East, will play during the first part of the concert; Mr. Parks, who teaches locally , will be heard in the last portion.

This chamber concert is part of the regular Sunday afternoon series presented, free of charge, by the City of Carmel.

Concertmaster for Monterey Symphony distinguished soloist

Michael Rosenker will serve as concertmaster of the Monterey Symphony Orchestra for the coming season, it was announced last week. He is a distinguished soloist and a former concertmaster of the New York Philharmonic.

Born in Odessa, his early musical training was received at the St. Petersburg Conservatory. Before coming to the United States, he directed the violin department of the Rotterdam Conservatory.

He was associated with the New York Philharmonic for 20 years and has performed under the direction of eminent conductors Pierre Monteux, Charles Munch, George Szell, Fritz Reiner, Bruno Walter, Sir Adrian Boult, Sir Thomas Beecham, Dimitri Mitropoulous and Herbert von Karajan.

He has also been concertmaster of the Metropolitan Opera Orchestra, the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra, and the NBC Symphony Orchestra.

Mr. Rosenker recently arrived here from Tokyo, where he had completed a concert schedule and served as concertmaster of the Yomiuri Nippon Symphony Orchestra. He is now living in Carmel with his wife, Kazuko.

New Knights of Columbus officers

New officers were installed at the Aug. 1 meeting of the Knights of Columbus, Billie Burke Council, No. 4593. The ceremony was held in Crespi Hall of Carmel Mission.

Officers installed were: T. D'Angelo, grand night; T. Groark, grand deputy; P. Pederson, chancellor; P. Laux, recorder; A. Willert, financial secretary; B. O'Dello, treasurer; J. Lauderdale, lecturer; R. Wahl, advocate; J. Wecker, warden; G. DiGirolamo, inside guard; and J. Lauderdale, outside guard.

D. Nichols was elected trustee to serve with incumbents, P. Coniglio and F. Lucido. Rev. Frank Dunne will serve as chaplain for the coming year.

CV Women's Club Board Meets

The board of directors for the Carmel Valley Women's Club met last week at the home of Mrs. Adolph Friedenthal. Mrs. Elizabeth Hoisington, chairman of Fiesta de los Amigos plans for the organization, led the discussion of their participation in the September event. Wine tasting in the courtyard at the Plaza Linda building will be under their sponsorship. A fourth generation winery, Mirassou Winery at San Jose, has agreed to be represented.

The Women's Club will also sponsor the street dance from 9-5 on Del Fino Place to the music of the five-piece band directed by Marty Artellan. During the evening, entertainment in the same mood as the Fiesta 18 years ago will be provided.

The board also set the date for their annual Hospitality Tea which will be the Wednesday following the Fiesta. All Valley women are invited to the Community Center Sept. 6 by the board members who will serve as hostesses.

Lionettes hear Gwen May

The Carmel Valley Lionettes met Thursday evening at Los Laureles Lodge. Mrs. Clyde Hitchcock, hostess for the evening, introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Gwen May of the SPCA. The only Humane Society officer in Monterey County, Mrs. May discussed the inadequacy of the present shelter and the need for funds for the proposed shelter to be built on fifteen acres of land on the Salinas Highway. Humorous and pathetic were her dealings with both domestic and wild animals many of whom arrive at the May home on Panetta Rd. until they either recupterate from injuries or a suitable home is found for them.

Ice cream and an enormous birthday cake celebrating the July birth dates of Mmes. Robert Hebert, William Hall and Clyde Hitchcock were enjoyed by the members and their guests.

Among the guests were Mmes. Henry Perry, Milton Frumkin, Norman Skadan, Tom Bordonaro and June Feeney. Welcomed to the organization were new members Mmes. Tom Bottaro, Don Draper, Mal Tavares, and Warren Douglas. The door prize was won by club president, Mrs. Jack Black.

Mrs. Mark Hattan, Lionettes' chairman for the Fiesta de los Amigos, reported on the progress of her committee. The Lionettes will sponsor a "Hats and History Show" which includes a collection of hats from the year 1896 to the present time. These are reproductions of hats on display at the Costume Institute of the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York. The program is presented with pertinent facts about the fashion of the day, and events in national and local history taking place when the hats were in vogue. They will also sponsor the American Legion train which will appear in the parade and give rides to young and old during the Fiesta. Their train ticket booth will be in conjunction with a Fish Pond. In the evening the Lionettes will have a booth at the street dance where celebrants may purchase slices of pizza.

CVYO

Yogi Bear movie

A special matinee will be shown by the CVYO on Saturday, Aug 12. This is the only children's movie to be shown during the summer months and there will be two screenings, at 1 and 3 p.m.

The color animated feature, "Hey There, It's Yogi Bear!" starring Yogi in his first feature movie, will be coupled with a special Laurel and Hardy comedy, "The Live Ghost."

All seats will be 35¢, there will be adult supervision and the snack bar will be in operation.

AA tri-county

The monthly tri-county Monterey Bay social meeting of Alcoholics Anonymous will be held on Saturday, July 29, 8:30 p.m. at the Sacred Heart Church, corner of W. Market and Stone St., Salinas.

Featured speaker will be Bill L. of Temple City. Refreshments will follow.

This is an open meeting and everyone is welcome to come and bring a friend.

Kiwanis directors meet

The Kiwanis Board of Directors will meet Thursday at the home of Don Quinto at 8 p.m.

Last month the board approved the club financial report and the gift of a $25 savings bond to the CV Swimming Pool for a life-saving class award. It heard a report from Ned Skilling that Kiwanis had distributed over 4000 used records to the County Hospital and County Farm.

The board approved a project to organize and manage the beautification of the Community Center and entrance area.

Carmel Valley Kiwanians were to hear Rabbi Abraham Haselkorn speak on "The Israeli Point of View" at yesterday's meeting at Los Laureles Lodge.

San Juan flea market set for Sat.

All vendors' spaces have been sold out since last month for the fourth annual Flea Market at San Juan Bautista to be held Aug. 6.

A pancake breakfast from 6 a.m. and a chicken barbecue beginning at noon will be available for the shoppers on the city's main street which will become a pedestrian mall for the day with booths lining both sides.

The Market is sponsored by the San Juan Bautista Chamber of Commerce as a means of raising funds for the restoration and beautification of the historic mission town.

Outlook On Carmel

Photographs by two nationally-known photo essayists, W. Eugene Smith and Bruce Davidson, will be shown in the second exhibit to be sponsored by the Friends of Photography in the Carmel Photography Center Gallery, Sunset Center, Carmel.

The public is cordially invited to the opening of the exhibit from 8 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. Friday, Aug. 4. Refreshments will be served.

Shown through the cooperation of Eastman House, Rochester, N.Y., the exhibit will feature the works of these two most advanced and widely-known photo essayists.

The exhibit will continue through August. The gallery is open without charge weekdays, except Mondays, from 1 to 5 p.m. and Sundays from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

W. Eugene Smith is widely known for his photo essays "Country Doctor," "Spanish Village" and "Man of Mercy" as well as his later "Pittsburgh" and "Colossus of the Orient." Born in Wichita, Kan., 1918, he became newsphotographer at 15. His photographs appeared in Newsweek, Colliers and Harper's Bazaar.

Joining the staff of Life as a war correspondent, he covered 13 invasions, 23 combat air missions and was wounded at Okinawa. He returned to photo journalism and Life magazine in 1947.

Resigning from Life, he joined Magnum in 1955.

Smith was awarded a Guggenheim Fellowship in 1956 and again in 1957.

This Carmel exhibit will include photographs from "Pittsburgh" and "Colossus of the Orient" as well as individual photographs.

Bruce Davidson was born in Oak Park, Ill., in 1934. After studying photography at Institute of Technology and Yale University, he free-lanced in Paris and New York. He joined Magnum in 1958. Awarded a Guggenheim Fellowship in 1962, he produced a photographic study of youth in America. His numerous photo essays include "The Clown," "Brooklyn Gang," "Fashion" and "England

Carmel planning commissioner

Architect Willox was designer for films

A wealth of experience has built up for architect George Willox, who has served on the Carmel Planning Commission for the past 12 years.

In addition to the years on the Carmel PlanCom, he has also served on the Area Planning Commission and on the State Planning Advisory Committee, responsible for regional planning throughout the state.

Willox was in on the ground floor of area planning when former Senator Fred Farr wanted local architects to get together and work on it. Willox attended the first annual conference on city and regional planning at Berkeley ten years ago at Farr's request.

A year and a half later a three-day conference was set up at the Monterey Fairgrounds which inspired local interest. After this, the chairmen of the planning commissions in the five local cities started on discussing area planning and eventually formed the Area Planning Commission.

As far as Carmel planning is concerned, he thinks it is of utmost importance to keep the Village character in new building and remodeling in the commercial zone ... not one set style, but design which keeps the flavor of what is there.

GEORGE WILLOX

Willox is concerned about the proposed 28.88 tax base because of the number of people who are on fixed incomes. He commented that people have always taken the old Carmel house and fixed it up and maintained it in a way that was attractive, but with an increased tax base, he feels this would be difficult for many persons.

BORN IN SCOTLAND

Willox was born in Glasgow, Scotland, and was brought to Canada at the age of six. He was raised in London, Ontario and stayed there until he was 21.

He went to Detroit, worked in an office for two years and then went to University of Michigan.

After graduating he came to California and worked for an architect in Pasadena. From there Willox ventured into the design and construction of special order furniture.

He got back into architecture at United Artists studio and then left California for a tour of architectural work in Texas.

When World War II started he was over the age of enlistments so he went to the South Pacific Islands and worked with contractors at the Naval bases.

One of the most fascinating jobs he has had, Willox said, was after the war at 20th Century Fox in the engineering department. There he designed everything from boats in perspective to lakes and dams for movie sets.

He had been in Carmel in 1941, prior to going to the Islands, and he returned in 1946 to work with architect Robert Stanton, and in 1950 started his own business, turning an adjacent guest house into a studio.

Since then, Willox has lived and worked in the quiet of Carmel Woods.

Sassoon chosen president of Carmel Music Society board of directors

At a recent meeting of the Carmel Music Society's Board of Directors, Steven Sassoon was elected president for the 1967-68 season. Mr. Sassoon will succeed the retiring president, Mrs. Carl Welchner.

Other officers elected by the board were Mrs. Alvin Gluck, 1st vice pres.; Mrs. T.O. Edwards, 2nd vice pres.; Miss Angie Machado, 3rd vice pres.; Rev. H.M.M. Nicholas, recording secretary; Frederick Schaad, corresponding secretary, and Walter Jennings, treasurer.

Members of the Board of Directors for the coming season include Leonard Abinante, Robert Arenz, Arthur Lehmann, Kenneth Ehrman, John Farr, Dr. Arnold Manor, Dr. Harvey Marsahll, Edward Neroda, Mmes. Virginia McCormac Bunting, Nancy Ness Bowman, Rhea Diveley, C.A. Dowdell, Glen Harnish, Monte Harrington, L.W. Klene, Harry Lusignan, Carl Rohr, Philip H. Smith, Carl Welchner, Dr. and Mrs. Mast Wolfson and Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Wurzmann.

A warm Valley welcome to Dr. and Mrs. Robert Malloy who arrived recently from San Jose to make their home on Buena Vista del Rio in Robles del Rio. Dr. Malloy, a graduate from the University of California at Davis, plans to establish a large animal practice employing a mobile unit equipped with the latest in veterinary equipment.

His wife, Joan, also graduated from Davis in fine arts, which she would like to apply someday to her special interest in interior design. Presently she is busy getting the family settled in their Valley home, assisting her husband, and caring for their three-year-old son, Beck.

After visiting twenty-five states on a tour which covered 7500 miles on his first trip out of California, Dan Tavares, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mal Tavares of El Potrero is convinced "there's no place like home." The adventure was shared with his cousin, Tony Roche of Tulare, Calif.

Highpoints of their trip included the Canadian 'Expo '67,' New York, the White House, Washington, D.C., and the Kennedy Memorial. Kentucky won their vote as the second best spot for a home, but Carmel Valley retained its hold on first place.

Welcome home to Mr. and Mrs. Clinton W. McCombs and daughter, Kaye, who have returned from a vacation in the Pacific Northwest. The trip served dual purposes for the McCombs who were celebrating their 20th wedding anniversary as well as Kaye's graduation from high school. The Valleyites drove up the Oregon coast line where they visited the new beach home of friends at Waldport.

They were totally unprepared for the growth of Seattle and Tacoma (a 68 million dollar building program, they were informed by a billboard) and enjoyed the peaceful contrast of a ferry ride to Vancouver Island. They enjoyed the museums, especially the Indian art in the Parliament Building. They were so fascinated by the intricacies of the carved totems everywhere that Kaye sketched and painted one for her family which will be framed as a special memento of their trip.

They enjoyed the ferry trip back to Seattle through the islands and continued south to Ashland, Ore., where they watched a rehearsal of the Shakespearean Festival presentation of "Tempest." Home again, the McCombs are in the pre-college flurry of getting Kaye ready to enter classes at the University of California at Santa Barbara where she will major in English and continue her study of art.

BOB ROSENBLUM AND HOWARD SCHUMAN

Authors of 'Eden Skidoo' get set for White Oaks premiere

Getting a full scale musical done on Broadway these days is next to impossible, according to Howard Schuman, one of the authors of "Eden Skidoo." "Places like White Oaks Theatre must exist if musical theatre is to survive at all," he added.

Schuman and his co-author, Bob Rosenblum, have been in the Valley for three weeks working with the cast and director of "Eden Skidoo," in preparation for their world premiere on Saturday... and the people at White Oaks say the place will never be the same. The spontaneous zany wit of these two keeps everybody jumping. Their conversations sound like "something from a play," which explains why they work so well together as a team.

Bob did the music for the farce, "Eden Skidoo," and both of them wrote the lyrics and book. They say their working habits are a bit unusual in that they can write portions separately and have them fit together as if they had been working in tandem. For the most part the lyrics have been written first with the two of them working closely at the piano. However, Howard said sometimes, Bob dreams up a tune and then they work out the words to go with it.

While they were students at Brandeis University, both of the young men wrote musicals, but separately. Howard's stage debut was in a show done by Bob. After college Howard had a fellowship to Berkeley in political science and Bob did graduate work at Yale. He left there to do movie production and then the two got together in New York writing songs and doing review material.

"Eden Skidoo" is their first full-length musical. It is not about Carmel Valley, although the rumors have been flying that this is so. The play is about an "ideal community," and attacks the tendency of people in the world to bury their heads in the sand and disregard unpleasantness. It is a satire on the hippie as well as the square.

One thing that has been exciting for both the authors and the actors has been the fact that the show has never been done before. This gives the actors a chance to originate a role... and the authors can see their written words come to life.

Play review

'Charley's Aunt' is simply ripping

You'll have a smashing good time at "Charley's Aunt" and so will your visiting friends and relations. Bring them all. The Community Theatre's production of this old English chestnut is simply ripping.

How could it not be with Nick Hovick masquerading as that famous lady from Brazil (where the nuts come from)? And with Rod Sibley and Norman McPhee as a pair of lovesick Oxford undergrads in need of a chaperone so that the proper young ladies who are the subject of their affections can come to tea in Charley's rooms? And so the stage is set for some inspired tomfoolery.

Kate Stoney, Wendy Thaler and Anita Whitaker as the young ladies and Margaret Phillips as the real aunt are charming enough to make the hilarious misery the boys let themselves in for worthwhile in the end.

Rod Sibley plays the quick-witted Jack who is the instigator of the action, with lively enthusiasm and director Norman McPhee (substituting for Richard Schriebman the night we saw it) looks rather like Tweedledee minus Tweedledum in a striped blazer and straw boater, as the not-so-bright Charley who goes along with his friends' escapade. Their antics are skillfully synchronized.

(The theatre is fortunate in having a director who can step in at a few hours' notice and pinch hit for an absent player.)

Tony Garfoli makes a wonderfully English gentleman's gentleman and Robert Heater plays a colonel, lately retired from Her Majesty's service in India, in his customary fine style. Melvin Isenberger is sufficiently unpleasant as the villain of the piece who pursues the bogus aunt (for her money, of course).

With all these clever people egging him on, Mr. Hovick's considerable talents are well realized and he wins the audience's sympathy with a poignantly wacky portrayal, as well as its laughter.

Carol McPhee and Linda Braun deserve congratulations for the set designs and costumes.

At the galleries:

O'Shea at Laky

THE WORK of John O'Shea (1879-1956), acclaimed as one of the area's finest painters, is being shown through Aug. 13 at the Laky Galleries. His paintings also hang in the Palace of the Legion of Honor, the San Francisco Museum of Art and the Museum of Modern Art in Dublin.

Baldock in Monterey

Gael Baldock of the Carmel Valley Studio Gallery was given a one-man showing of his oil paintings at the Palo Verde Apts. in Monterey Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Booth were hosts at the private patio showing.

Speiser at Tantamount

Zane Speiser is the Carmel Valley Artist-of-the-Month starring in the Tantamount Theatre's Green Room Gallery with an exhibition of his graphics on view all of August.

A recent subject of an Outlook "Profile" (March 30, 1966), Speiser combines his art career as painter-sculptor-printmaker with teaching beginning and advanced drawing, design, and commercial art at Seaside High School.

He has exhibited in many of the major shows of the Bay Area both on the museum and university circuit.

SILHOUETTED AGAINST THE DIAMOND sparkle of the bay, Carmelite nuns pause for conversation. Point Lobos looms in the background.

Photos by Regina Hicks

Story by Ginnie Drew

San Jose Creek Beach is not the tourist beach that one finds in Carmel. It is off the regular beach track, and is inhabited by persons who come there for its special qualities. The nuns from the Carmelite Monastery... the skin divers are the most loyal patrons of the strip of sand and surf at the mouth of San Jose Creek.

Picnickers on their way down the Big Sur Coast stop occasionally as do sightseers on their way to Point Lobos.

There are hollows in the dunes where one can escape the chilling winds, there are excellent conditions for skin diving in the bay, and there is a spectacular view of Point Lobos.

A part of the state park system, San Jose Creek Beach is the last public access to the ocean until Pfeiffer Beach at Big Sur, but it is usually the local residents who frequent the park.

On any given afternoon the regulars are there, enjoying the semi-solitude of a special strip of sand.

Beauty and solitude me

Nuns, skin divers and picnickers cannot resist the lure of the beach

A WORLD THAT ONCE STAYED behind locked walls meets the world of children and dogs at San Jose Creek Beach.

...le meet on surf washed San Jose Creek Beach

AT LEFT—NUNS FROM the Carmelite Monastery on highway one often walk across the highway to the beach for a game of ball, a walk, some reading or research. Some bring fishing rods for a little surf casting.

AT RIGHT—SUN AND reflections combine to lure a visitor into relaxing... perchance a siesta on the sand along the edge of the creek is in order.

9 years national head of Pi Beta Phi

Alice Johnson retires as sorority president

This next year will be quite a different one for Mrs. Irwin Johnson. For the past 16 years, Alice has been on the Grand Council of Pi Beta Phi sorority. The last nine of these she has been president, a job which entailed traveling about three months of each year.

At the national convention held in Chicago last month, Alice presided over her final function as president, since she had decided to "just stay home with Irwin in Carmel Valley."

The Chicago convention was a special affair, celebrating the hundred-year anniversary of Pi Beta Phi, which had been founded at Monmouth College in Illinois. As a climax to her years of work with active chapters and alumni groups, Alice led a 19-busload caravan of Pi Phis to Monmouth where they gave the school $50,000 to build an addition to their library, in honor of Amy Burnham Onken, the founder of Pi Beta Phi.

As part of her job, Alice installed new chapters and visited established ones. She has visited all but 4 or 5 of the 111 chapters in the United States and Canada.

Although she has been tremendously active in sorority work over the past 20 years, Alice said she had never held an office or been particularly active in her college chapter at Washington University. The college is in St. Louis where Alice had lived all her life.

She commented, "I thought I'd live and die in St. Louis."

Having been a Carmel Valley resident for the past year and a half, Alice agrees with Joe Hitchcock who said, "No one who lives in the Valley ever wants to go to heaven."

As president of the Grand Council, she "lived and breathed Pi Phi 24 hours a day." However, for the past year and a half more has been done by phone than actual travel.

There is a special reason for the change. A year ago February Alice and Irwin Johnson, from Carmel Valley, who had been her first beau, were married. He was a widower, and had seen her picture in the paper in reference to sorority affairs at Berkeley. He called to wish her well in solving problems that had come up at the school.

Later, when Alice was back in St. Louis, she was cleaning out her wallet, ran across Irwin's phone number and decided to call him and report on the outcome of the Berkeley trip.

That was it! Shortly afterwards, she had to come to California, and they met for dinner. Not long after that she came back to be married, accompanied by the Pi Phi grand treasurer . . . who came along . . . "just to make sure she approved," Alice chuckled.

Now that she is a confirmed Valley resident, Alice has "been a joiner," in her words. Through Women's Club, Garden Club, Irwin's associates in the County Road Dept., Alice has made a large circle of acquaintances and feels right at home.

Irwin is even trying to turn her into a gardener, something that he prides himself on . . . and rightly so. Their lovely home on Nido Way is a showplace and was included in this year's Garden Club tour.

"I don't really have a green thumb," Alice added, "but I'm trying."

As Road & Track magazine says:

"The Volvo 1800 S is a very civilized touring car for people who want to travel rapidly in style, a Gran Turismo car of the type much in the news these days, but at a price that many people who cannot afford a Ferrari or Aston Martin will be able to pay."

Ferraris and Aston Martins cost over $10,000. The Volvo 1800 S costs only $4200* and you can drive one home today. *Manufacturer's suggested retail price West Coast P.O.E.

crazy assortment of gifts presented to them. Among them was a newspaper log "once owned by William Randolf Hearst" ("just like a thousand made by Neva that we are leaving in the carport!" quipped Carl); jugs of pure California rain water; dirt, sunshine and rare fog; decorated corks for the "holes in your heads for leaving Calif."; special glasses for looking back to the Valley; many coupons void in Minnesota, and candles to light your way back to us.

Many friends of Lt. Cmdr. and Mrs. W. F. Edwards took the opportunity to entertain them before they left last week to make their home in Santa Clara. Barbara, Frank, and children Susan, Frank Jr. and Johnathan, have been one of those special Navy families who contribute so much to a community while living in it. Frank will now take a brief survival class at San Diego before returning to Moffett for training to fly the Electra.

Before the packing started on Aliso Rd., the Edwards family took a southern holiday. They toured Hearst Castle, visited friends in Torrance, saw the new addition at Knotts' Berry Farm including the replica of Independence Hall, visited Barbara's cousin, Julie Gibbon, and toured Disneyland where they especially enjoyed Pirates of the Caribbean. Returning home via Yosemite the Valleyites were thrilled by the gorgeous waterfalls as compared to their visit in October to a very dry park.

The "World Wide Reading Program" at the Carmel Valley Library has an enrollment of 109 children including Jill Zoger from San Francisco who is spending her vacation with her family at their summer home in Robles del Rio. Her brother, Adam, is one of the seven pre-school non-readers who are taking part in the special project devised for them.

The older children receive a sticker for the map of the world for each oral report given on a book that they have read. The pre-schoolers paste a star on a large American Flag for each book read to them by their parents.

Names of Valleyites were added to the register on top of Yosemite's El Capitan recently by the Drs. Betty and John Davis and their children, DeeDee and Steven, who made the ascent during a campout at Tamarack Campground. Camping right at the snow border, the family from Hastings Reservation marveled at the beauty of the falls following the winter's record snowfall. From Yosemite they drove to Zion and Bryce before returning again to Yosemite where they camped at Tuolumne.

Presently visiting them is Mrs. Emily Ball and her three daughters, Deborah, Kathleen, and Maureen of Palo Alto. The youngsters make a fourth generation to enjoy the Upper Valley since it was Emily's grandparents who founded the Hastings Reservation. She made her first visit there when she was four and now her children are sharing the happy memories of her childhood in Carmel Valley.

The Carmel Valley duplicate bridge tournament sponsored by the Valley Bridge Club last Tuesday evening at the Community Center awarded prizes to the following: Mrs. Irene Baldwin and Mrs. M.L. Stoney in first place; Mrs. Dale Vandervort and Mrs. John Hudelson in second place; and Mr. and Mrs. M.A. Antoncich who placed third.

ROBERT SCOTT, DD., R.Sc.D., will address the Sunday evening service of Carmel's Unitarian Church-in-the-Round Aug. 6. it was announced by the Rev. Karel Vit, minister. Dr. Scott will speak on "Religious Science; Message for the New Age." This lecture continues the series, "Religions by which Men Live" at Church-in-the-Round which meets in the Nix Studio, Mission and 8th. Morning services will be resumed in September.

Army Engineers' report tells special factors affecting floods

Explanations of flood prevention and warning service and factors affecting flood levels are included in the following excerpts from the Flood Plain Report prepared by the U.S. Army Engineer Corps for Carmel Valley.

The two existing reservoirs, San Clemente and Los Padres, are owned by the California Water and Telephone Company, and used primarily as municipal water supply reservoirs. The entire volume of these reservoirs, 2,150 and 3,000 acre-feet respectively, is intended and required for the single purpose of storing potable water supply and no volume is available for flood control storage. Since storms of flood producing magnitude generally are preceded by heavy antecedent rains that saturate the soil and fill the reservoirs, they would have little effect upon the larger flood discharges in the Carmel River. Runoff from heavy rainfall increases rapidly after the capacity for natural surface and subsurface storage in the basin has been filled. Records of storms and runoff in the basin indicate that following the dry season (May-October), flood producing conditions (November-April) normally exist after there has been about 8 to 10 inches of rainfall to satisfy the field moisture capacity of the soil cover. Once the subsurface ground water storage capacity under well drained areas has been recharged by early season rains, only one inch of precipitation may be required to satisfy infiltration capacity. Any additional precipitation may produce a high percentage of runoff creating flood producing conditions, even after a dry period of several days or longer.

FLOOD DAMAGE PREVENTION MEASURES

There is no comprehensive flood control project for the basin. The photographic flood plain maps, flood crest profiles, and channel cross sections shown in this report, should be of assistance to those interested in the proper use of the flood plain. The Soil Conservation Service, in cooperation with individual property owners, has performed channel clearing operations along various isolated reaches of Carmel River since 1951. Short lengths of levee have been constructed by private interests, but it should be pointed out that while such improvements may provide a measure of protection to individual properties, their construction may aggravate flood and conditions elsewhere and make the owners subject to litigation for damages.

FLOOD WARNING AND FORECASTING SERVICE

No flood warning service is provided for the Carmel River by the Federal-State River Forecast Center in Sacramento at this time. Some recording stream gages in the State have been modified with new equipment to provide telemetered radio reporting to the Center. The Monterey Flood Control and Water Conservation District maintains communications with the water service company when hydrologic conditions are critical. Reports of spillway discharge at San Clemente Dam are monitored, and personnel of the Monterey Flood Control and Water Conservation District maintain a close watch on the gage at Robles del Rio to warn of possible flash floods when runoff conditions are critical. The District plans to have telemetering equipment installed at the Robles del Rio gage in the near future.

MONTEREY That Is!

AUGUST 9-13

The Rhyming Philosopher

My love has a birthday to honor this week,
So how's for a nimbus to match her new wig,
With something that's modern and something antique,
And wrap them all up in a thingumajig?

She's always surprised when her birthday comes 'round,
For obvious reasons she shopes to forestall it.
Why give her a bonnet beribboned and crowned
To wear with her newest whatyoumaycallit?

These females to me have conventional flair
Regarded as sheer incomprehensibles,
Preventing my purchase of such underwear
Referred to as ladies' unmentionables.

As years overtake her I'm fairly convinced
She harbors a wealth of enigma inside her;
Divulging desires in a million new hints,
But up to the present I've never surprised her.

So year after year I sweat blood in boutiques
Rejecting the mundane with lofty excuses.
Result? This rare treasure I stole from the Greeks
She tells all her friends is a whatsit from Whoziz!

Chapel concert Aug. 15 to start organ fund

A concert will be held in the Sanctuary of Community Chapel on Tuesday, Aug. 15, at 8 p.m. The event will start a fund-raising drive for a new organ for the church.

Jean Canada will sing and Judy Wendel will play violin, with Sunzah and Seung Park at the piano.

A silver offering will be taken for those who wish to make a donation. For further information, please phone Margaret Ziegler.

Refreshments will be served after the concert.

CV Horsemen annual Roundup Sunday Aug. 6

Roy Forzani is chairman of the Carmel Valley Horsemen's Association's 18th annual Roundup.

Vic Silva will serve as ring steward and Dick McKenzie will announce the events.

The Roundup committee is made up of Dave Mathews, John Holmes, Mac McCulley, Marvin Rasmussen, Karin Rasmussen, and Maxine McArthur.

Judges had been announced as Marten Clark for the Western Division and Jacqueline Root for English Division. Miss Root withdrew because of a back injury, however, and a new judge will be introduced to take her place at the Roundup.

Classes of special interest will include halter classes for registered Appaloosas, Arabians, and Quarter Horses; Hackamore Horse, Working Cowhorse and Open Stock Horse classes—all to work cattle; and classes for jumping horses.

Other classes will be Horsemen-to-Be, Trail Horse, Junior Stock Horse, Best Appearing, English and Western Pleasure, and English and Western Horsemanship.

The show is scheduled for Aug. 6 at the Carmel Valley Trail and Saddle Club grounds.

Late entries may still be made with an extra fee of $1. They may be mailed to Linda Maderak, P.O. Box 1902, Monterey, or brought to the club grounds Sunday before noon. Entry blanks may be picked up at local saddle shops.

Refreshments will be served all day, beginning at 8 a.m. Admission is $1 for adults, 50 cents for juniors and servicemen in uniform. Children under 8 are free.

THE Cookery Corner

Two casseroles for short-cut summer meals, a torte that "everyone in the Women's Club already knows about" and a German great-grandmother's recipe for mustard pickles. These are the contributions of ELIZABETH FRIEDENTHAL.

The Adolph Friedenthals (he is a retired Lt. Col.) came to the Valley three years ago from Belvedere by way of San Francisco and Portland and are happily ensconced on Country Club Dr.

She is a board member of the CV Women's Club and also attends meetings of the Carmel Democratic Women's Club. He is an enthusiastic Lion.

BAKED BEEF STEW

This beef stew is so good that it can double for Stroganoff if you add mushrooms and serve with noodles or rice.

2 lbs. lean stewing beef
1 package onion soup mix
1 can mushroom soup
1 cup Burgundy wine

Mix together in casserole. Bake three hours at 325 degrees. Cook favorite vegetables separately and add. Reheat to serve. May be frozen before vegetables are added.

CHICKEN A LA ORANGE

You might like to try this trick with duck or Cornish game hen.

Dip chicken pieces in oil. Season with garlic salt. Cover with one can frozen orange concentrate. Bake one hour and 15 minutes at 350° degrees. Turn every half hour.

COLE SLAW A LA HUBER'S

Chop one head of cabbage up small and mix with fresh or canned crab or shrimp and the following dressing, preferably two to three hours before serving. Keep cold. Garnish with hard-cooked eggs and parsley.

Dressing:

3 eggs, beaten in mixer
1/2 cup sugar
1 cup sour cream

Add 1/2 cup vinegar last and salt and pepper to taste.

Mix well and heat slowly, stirring constantly. Let boil one minute. Cool and mix into cabbage.

A wonderful way to use end-of-the-season cucumbers and tomatoes which won't ripen before the first frost. Mrs. Friedenthal says she varies the amounts of each ingredient according to which she has the most of. The cauliflower adds a nice crunch.

MUSTARD PICKLES

4 green peppers, cut up
5 lbs. green tomatoes, cut into chunks
5 lbs. small cucumbers
2 small heads cauliflower, broken up
1 quart raw pearl onions, peeled whole

Soak 24 hours in 4 quarts water and 2 cups salt. Drain. Scald in weak vinegar solution (put mixture into boiling solution and drain immediately).

Dressing:

1 cup flour
6 T. dry mustard
2 T. tumeric
3 pounds brown sugar
1 ounce celery seed
1 ounce white mustard seed
3 quarts vinegar

(mix with enough cold vinegar to make a paste)

Cook all ingredients together and stir to thicken Add the pickle mixture and bring to a boil. Seal in sterilized jars.

DATE TORTE

This is the torte the Women's Club members liked so well they asked for the recipe.

1 1/2 cups dates, cut up small
1 cup chopped walnuts
3 eggs
1 cup sugar
1 cup flour
1 teas. baking powder
1 teas. vanilla

Beat egg yolks with sugar and vanilla until cream color. Mix together flour, baking powder, dates and nuts. Beat egg whites stiff. Fold the flour mixture and egg whites alternately into yolk mixture. Pour into an 8x11 or 9x12 inch pan and bake for 35 minutes at 350°. Cut into squares while warm. Serve with whipped cream or ice cream. Can be made ahead and wrapped in foil.

A new refrigerator-freezer ends defrosting forever. There's a wide variety of colorful designs and models... you can store 50% more food in the same kitchen space... and some even have automatic ice-makers. Blondie's defrosting problems are over. Yours could be too. See your appliance dealer now.

Final award series horse show

The final Award Series Horse Show of the season was held by the CV Trail and Saddle Club on Sunday. Their series has featured professional instruction at each show and emphasis was placed on the rider, his handling, personal appearance, care and appearance of mount, rather than quality of horse.

The final awards were given for the top winners from the five shows with the Warmington perpetual trophy for the most improved rider going to Ginger Dahle, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Ben Dahle.

Sylvia Zoellin received the award for over-all points.

Wendy Swanson was the Horsemanship high point winner and Sylvia Zoellin was the Gymkhana high point winner. Runners-up in this category were Fred Nason and Wendy Swanson.

The awards for best dressed and neatest girl went to Anne Warmington in western attire and Carole Crockett in English habit. Ted Sherman won the award for best dressed and neatest boy.

Special recognition was given to Arne Halle and children who ran the refreshment stand, Ralphe Carter for his instruction, Jean Fairchild for work with the youth group, Dick and Evelyn Zoellin who directed the show, and Bob Angell, club president.

Judges for the series of five shows were Elaine Riddel, Linda Maderak, Ralphe and Ronaye Carter, Vic Silva and Lynn Hodges.

Final results of total points

Nine & under: 1st, Marion Nason (silver buckle and halter); 2nd, Julie Zoellin (show halter); 3rd, Tracy Rushmer (horse sheet).

Ten through twelve: 1st, Sylvia Zoellin (silver buckle and halter); 2nd, Wendy Swanson (show halter); 3rd, Gail Nason (horse sheet).

Thirteen through seventeen: 1st, Ted Sherman (silver buckle and halter); 2nd, Fred Nason (show halter); 3rd, Marcia Dahle (horse sheet).

Merchandise prizes were presented to Julie Zoellin, Tracy Rushmer, Alan Crockett, Ginger Dahle, Dani Kunz, Ted Galante, Marion Nason, Tommy Nason, Carole Crockett, Wendy Swanson, Sylvia Zoellin, Ann Springer, Petey Dahle, Diane Klech, Sally Bennett, Kathy Neill, Kathleen Menke, Gail Nason, Regina Halle, Lee Ann Dahle, Marcia Dahle, Sue Schetter, Ted Sherman, Margaret Menke, Anne Warmington, Kris Swanson and Fred Nason.
